

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

I thank the chair and members of my supervisory committee for their mentoring, the staff and members at the UF Libraries for their keen research assistance, the participants in my surveys for their honest and open participation, and the National Humanities Foundation for its generous support. I thank my parents for their loving encouragement, which motivated me to complete my study.